As one of the areas of law that is most involved in the daily routine of companies, covering several segments and internal departments, the civil area requires not only lawyers, but partners who understand and are interested in combining the legal aspect with the viability of business activities.

RONALDO MARTINS & Advogados has a team specialized in consulting and civil litigation.

Thus, we have specialists in Commercial and Civil Law, including a deep knowledge of the subdivisions: contractual, administrative, consumer, court reorganization, GDPR, and general litigation.

In the contractual area, besides analyzing and/or drafting contracts, we participate, whenever necessary, in negotiation meetings; this also assists possible court discussions involving the compliance with the respective clauses.

We also act in the administrative sphere with all necessary assistance in biddings, from the analysis of the calls for bid to the last legal measure to defend the client's interests, as well as defenses and possible appeals before Procon, Conar, Inmetro/Ipem, among other Administrative Bodies of the Government.

In the area of Consumer Law, for having, among our clients, large companies that work with the final recipient, we have the necessary expertise to work with the SAC's, PROCONS, JECS (small-claims courts) and other administrative and judicial bodies.

We also have a specialized team ready to advise companies on all legal aspects for the implementation and compliance with the terms of the General Data Protection Law.
